

In the fiscal year 2009, the Institute for Advanced Study was established as a university-wide organization transcending individual departments to advance the university's cutting-edge research. Its purpose is to enable the university to achieve outstanding research results that lead the academic world as a global center for education and research, and to contribute these results back to society.

Mission of Institute for Advanced Study

- (1) Ensuring high standards in research activities
- (2) Fostering young researchers, who will lead the next generation
- (3) Dissemination of outstanding research results inside and outside the university

Want to know more

- Kyushu University Institute for Advanced Study Official Website <https://ias.kyushu-u.ac.jp/en/>

Contact

- General information on the Institute for Advanced Study Research Promotion section, Research Planning Division, Research and Industrial Collaboration Promotion Department 092-802-2322 ext.:90-2322